The Cathedral is the place where the leader of the diocese, the bishop, celebrates the most solemn events – where priests are ordained, sacred oils consecrated, and enduring marriages are celebrated. Symbolically, a cathedral is the highest material expression of the faith of its people, a clear sign of what Pope Paul VI spoke of as “the unity of believers.”

While the Cathedral is beautiful as a building – one of the most majestic in the region – its primary purpose is not to be an eye catching monument. The Cathedral is meant to be a living, inspiring center of life-changing encounter with God.

For almost 90 years, the Cathedral has served as a beacon of hope for a community state, and a Diocese. Now it’s our turn to ensure that the beacon continues to shine brightly for future generations.

Ultimately, it comes down to responsibility. We have a gem here that needs some attention. Those who came before us built it with great vision, with tenacity, with patience, and with sacrifice at a time when this was a relatively small community, not the great city and diocese it is now. Catholics from throughout the diocese built this Mother Church in part as a gift to future generations.

We have the responsibility to honor them and what they did by caring for what they gave us and passing it on to those yet to come.

This beautiful building on the hill lifts the spirits from afar and from within. It is a sign of hope for all. Our desire is that more people will have the opportunity to visit and experience this sign of hope-this special treasure which is really all of ours - and carry its gift of hope with them through the challenges of life.

We have this opportunity, once in a lifetime, to enhance the beautiful blessing God has given us. This is our time. Join us in accepting this opportunity

HOME MISSION COLLECTION:

Right here in the United States, some dioceses are unable to provide fundamental pastoral care for their faithful. These “home mission” dioceses cannot support an adequate number of priests. They cannot afford funding for youth ministry programs or religious education. This week we take up a collection for the Catholic Home Missions Appeal. Help strengthen the Church at home with a generous donation.

Some of us find God at church on Sundays, but finding God the other six days of the week can be a puzzle. Other6.com is a community of people answering two simple yet profound questions: Where have you found God today? And Where do you need to find God today? Other6.com, brought to you by Loyola Press, a Jesuit Ministry, is based on "examination of consciousness" – a prayerful review of the day intended to help us recognize God in our daily routines. Our prayer is that you will find www.other6.com helpful in your desire for a closer relationship with God. Join us today; you'll be glad you did.
